Management Training & Networking Event

January 11, 2007 – Thursday 12:00 – 1:30 p.m.

Especially Designed for:

- ✓ Managers and leaders of Christian organizations
- ✓ Senior pastors, executive pastors, church business administrators and department managers
- ✓ Business representatives that serve nonprofits and churches

Hosted by:

Annual “What’s Hot and What’s Not” Panel of Experts

Peter Drucker identified that we live in the age of the “knowledge worker.” As Christian managers, we certainly need to keep up with the latest information from our fields. This year’s panel will represent the financial area, information technology, and personnel. This is always an annual favorite. Buckle your seatbelt and get ready to take off in 2007 with a review of what’s hot and what’s not in these three key management arenas.

Finance: Jamen D. Wurm, CPA, Partner Goehner Accountancy
Jamen oversees the audit and tax practice of the firm and has over eight years of experience working with Christian nonprofit organizations.

Information Technology: Nick Nicholaou, President Ministry Business Services and CMA section leader for the IT track. Nick Nicholaou is President of Ministry Business Services, a team of management consultants specializing in ministry management and operations.

Personnel: Joelle Peelgren, Director of Personnel Services at ELIC
Joelle has worked with ELIC for 10 years and prior to that with World Vision for 16 years. Her education includes an MA in Organization Development.
