FOCUS

Dear Friends of His Church at Work,

Well, we're only a few months into the new year, and 2008 is already shaping up to be a stellar season of impact through the area of WorkLife!

In this edition of WorkLife Momentum, you'll read about the influence that God is having through the work lives of believers, as well as a close look at how two churches are impacting their members and local communities through their WorkLife Ministries. We also share a brief portion of my interview with Dr. Henry Blackaby, where he shares some powerful words highlighting the great opportunity churches have to impact communities through their working members.

If your church is not already addressing the area of WorkLife or would like to do so in a more systematic way, His Church at Work is here to serve you through our proven framework for success, and support you through sustainability producing tools and our experienced team.

Bless you until next time.

CHURCH HELPS COLLEGE STUDENTS MAKE TRANSITION

Affirming a person's calling is one of HCAW's WorkLife goals for believers, and the WorkLife Ministry Team at Perimeter Church in Duluth, GA recently came alongside their Campus Outreach Ministry to help host a Transition Seminar for recent or soon-to-be college graduates. This WorkLife event was a great opportunity to support other ministry areas in their church.

Studies show a high percentage of college graduates disconnect from church as they move into their careers. Keeping a spiritual focus during this time is a high priority for those who planned this event. The seminar discussed key factors in transitioning well from college to career as well as developing strategies to manage a variety of life changes. It was designed to help build relationships with other graduates in the area and also connect church members as mentors during the transition.

The impact resulting from the partnership of HCAW and Perimeter Church continues to grow through events such as this. The WorkLife Team at Perimeter took advantage of this great opportunity to come alongside and support its Campus Outreach Ministry - providing support and resources to help impact this vital area, while making great connections and avenues for members to mentor and impact the students.

CHURCH DEDICATES WEEKEND TO LAUNCHING WORKLIFE INITIATIVE

The weekend of January 25-26, 2008 was a momentous time for The Church of the Apostles in Atlanta, GA. Following several years of preparation and foundation setting, the church held its Apostles Life Launch Weekend - a time of expanding the members' understanding and recognition of God's call on them to impact their points of impact in the community, including their workplaces. Much of the preparation has been to better position the church to support and commission the members to do just that.

Weekend activities included:

- A Friday night session to reintroduce the concept of Apostles Life and the impact that can be made on a multitude of communities
- Friday night's keynote speaker was Dr. Crawford Loritts, Senior Pastor of Fellowship Bible Church. Powerful message based on Luke 10:25-37 and the good Samaritan, "Go and Do the Same"
- Saturday sessions included a variety of training and equipping workshops designed to provide skills and tools to accomplish God's mission.
- Sunday morning, Senior Pastor Dr. Michael Youssef commissioned all those who attended the launch and were equipped to go forth and impact their culture.

It is extremely exciting to see churches like The Church of the Apostles focused on impacting their community through their members!

HCAW INTERVIEWS DR. HENRY BLACKABY

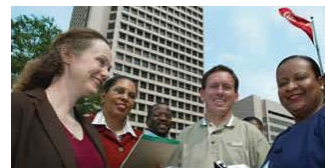

"The people who go out into the workplace ARE the church. We need to ask God, 'How do I organize my church to help equip members to function where God has put them in the workplace?'"
